Headlines

National

*January is National Radon Action Month

Test your home for radon, an invisible radioactive gas that causes lung cancer. Testing is the only way to know whether your home contains high radon levels.

United States Files Complaint Against Volkswagen, Audi and Porsche for Alleged Clean Air Act Violations

The complaint alleges that nearly 600,000 diesel engine vehicles had illegal defeat devices installed that impair their emission control systems and cause emissions to exceed EPA's standards, resulting in harmful air pollution.

EPA Releases First Preliminary Risk Assessment for Insecticides Potentially Harmful to Bees

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announced a preliminary pollinator risk assessment for the neonicotinoid insecticide, imidacloprid, which shows a threat to some pollinators. EPA's assessment, prepared in collaboration with California's Department of Pesticide Regulation, indicates that imidacloprid potentially poses risk to hives when the pesticide comes in contact with certain crops that attract pollinators.

State and Local Guide to U.S. EPA Climate and Energy Program Resources

EPA released the updated guide designed for state and local government staff that describes EPA programs and resources that can help them develop or expand their own energy efficiency and renewable energy initiatives or meet regulatory requirements.

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking from EPA's Office of Civil Rights

The proposed rule, "Nondiscrimination in Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Assistance from the Environmental Protection Agency," will improve EPA's ability to ensure that recipients of federal financial assistance comply with their affirmative obligation under the Civil Rights Act of 1965 and nondiscrimination statutes not to discriminate, while ensuring that the EPA has flexibility and discretion to carry out its nondiscrimination compliance work. Public comments are due February 12.

Region 7

EPA Announces West Lake Landfill Isolation Barrier Decision

EPA Region 7 announced its decision to proceed with the installation of a physical isolation barrier for the West Lake Landfill Superfund Site in Bridgeton, Mo. The decision also calls for the installation of additional engineering controls to prevent potential impacts that could result if a subsurface smoldering event were to come into contact with the radioactive materials contained in the West Lake Landfill.

USDA Announces Additional Support for Iowa Producers to Improve Nutrient Management and Water Quality Efforts

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced a host of new efforts to help Iowa's farmers and livestock producers conserve water and soil resources and improve nutrient management practices on the state's 30 million acres of farmland.

Public Health Advisory Warning: Blue-Green Algae Blooms for Hiawatha City Lake, Brown County, and Plainville Township Lake, Rooks County, KS

Some blue-green algae produce toxins that pose a health risk to people and animals. Health effects could occur when surface scums or water containing high levels of blue-green algal toxins are swallowed, through contact with the skin or when airborne droplets containing toxins are inhaled.
